RELIGIOUS CONVICTION

*Each of us having a testimony of Jesus as the Christ
has a heavy and great responsibility to live our life
so that our conduct will match our convictions.*

CECIL O. SAMUELSON (P. 58)

PUBLIC SERVICE

*Each of us brings something special to the table,
a unique gift to give back to society. For each one of you,
there is some pro bono work that will be deeply fulfilling,
no matter how busy you are and whatever your jurisprudential interests, your political or philosophical beliefs, or your professional skills.*

SETH P. WAXMAN (P. 109)

PROFESSIONAL EXCELLENCE

*Success brings more ability to help others,
and that is the obligation of those who succeed.*

ANNETTE W. JARVIS (P. 145)

FAIRNESS AND VIRTUE

*If you are consistent in your character,
if you treat others with respect and dignity,
if you are scrupulously honest, if you are fair,
if you are the same man or woman
in the practice of law that you are in your church,
your neighborhood, or your home, you will develop
the kind of reputation that will give you enormous
power as a peacemaker.*

MATTHEW B. DURRANT (P. 184)

RULE OF LAW

*Follow the ethical rules—better yet, help improve them.
But recognize that it is still true that lawyers are hired
as much for the wisdom they are thought to have as for their technical skills—for who they are
as much as for what they know.*

THOMAS D. MORGAN (P. 248)
